Cultural context includes what community members believe about language and its use—values and ideas concerning language and its speakers, as well as ideas about language teaching and learning. Language socialization studies focus on naturally occurring interactions with and around children and analyze the ways that the community's norms are expressed.

flanbwayan - Cultural Diversity and Language Socialization ...

In sociology, socialisation is the process of internalizing the norms and ideologies of society. Socialisation encompasses both learning and teaching and is thus "the means by which social and cultural continuity are attained". Socialization is strongly connected to developmental psychology. Humans need social experiences to learn their culture and to survive. Socialization essentially represents the whole process of learning throughout the life course and is a central influence on the behavior,
