To understand Africa, one must understand Nigeria, and few Americans understand Nigeria better than Karl Maier. This House Has Fallen is a bracing and disturbing report on the state of Africa's most populous, potentially richest, and most dangerously dysfunctional nation. Each year, with depressing consistency, Nigeria is declared the most corrupt state in the entire world.

A bellwether for Africa, it is a country of rising ethnic tensions and falling standards of living, very possibly on the verge of utter collapse -- a collapse that could dramatically overshadow even the massacres in Rwanda. A brilliant piece of reportage and travel writing, This House Has Fallen looks into the Nigerian abyss and comes away with insight, profound conclusions, and even some hope.

~~This House Has Fallen : Nigeria in Crisis by Karl Maier ...~~

"This House has Fallen" is his journalistic account of the slow disintegration of sub-Saharan Africa's most populous country. Maier documents the country's struggle to shrug off military dictatorship, its economic collapse, its environmental catastrophes, its ethnic and religious violence and its hopeless corruption.

~~Nigeria: This house has fallen — ElombahNews~~

If Nigeria as a house has fallen, then it is due to the wrong foundation upon which the house was built which was the British mess and exploitation. Where Maier tried to remember that there was no nation like Nigeria before colonialism, he avoided telling the truth of the emergence of Nigeria as a consequence of British selfishness.
