I'm reading a very interesting and important book at the moment, 'Trauma, Drug Misuse and Transforming Identities: A Life Story Approach' by Professor Kim Etherington. Kim's book looks at the lives of ex-drug users told in their words. It illustrates the links between early childhood experiences and drug misuse, and also shows pathways to ...

the prof speaks out: Trauma, drug misuse ... and bigotry

As we have seen, the misuse of drugs and alcohol starts off as a survival tactic but tolerance to such drugs increases with regular use. Thus, the quantity of the substance used will need to increase to continue to deliver the desired effect. Tragically, the substances gradually stop alleviating the pain of the trauma symptoms but the drugs are still needed to avoid physical and emotional withdrawals. Dependency then takes control.
